Patent Rights Given Away, Solons Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A investigation is brewing in the Senate on charges that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is giving away valuable patent rights which belong to the taxpayers.

Complaints by some Senate and House members picture NASA as signing away to business firms the rights to patents developed at public expense and worth untold millions of dollars. They contend a recent policy change made the situation worse.

James E. Webb, NASA administrator, has countered with a claim that the agency is following federal law and guidelines laid down by President John F. Kennedy shortly before his death.

The patents in question were developed under government-financed research contracts with commercial and other institutions.

A spokesman for a Senate Small Business subcommittee headed by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., told a reporter it will meet shortly after Congress convenes Jan. 4 to consider senatorial requests for an investigation.

Long has been an outspoken critic of the differing patent policies employed by various government agencies under special laws.

Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., both contend that the new NASA policy permits its contracting officers to negotiate patent waivers at the time they sign research contracts, thus giving away patent rights before even learning what they may be.

Morse has advised Long's subcommittee that this is contrary to both existing law and the Constitution.

Deadline Passes For Leo The Lion To Leave Town

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. (AP) — The deadline passed Sunday for Leo the lion to leave town. But Howard Sauter's pet still was in his heated quarters today.

Abington Township's commissioners recently passed an ordinance banning wild animals as pets. The ordinance was inspired by objections of some of Sauter's neighbors. They complained that Leo made them nervous.

Sauter said that when he receives formal notice from the township asking why Leo is still around, he will turn the matter over to his attorneys.

Sauter argues that Leo is harmless and looks harmless as lions go.

"Just because one man kills somebody, you don't outlaw all people," Sauter said. "So why should my lion go?"

Mars Craft Goes 50 Million Miles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mariner 4 has zoomed past the 50-million-mile mark on its arching flight to Mars, but it still has 275 million to go.

The space agency said Sunday Mariner 4, launched Nov. 28, was operating normally and sending back a steady stream of information. It is expected to pass within a few thousand miles of Mars next July on a photographing mission.

State Regime Starts Off Busy Week In Lansing

LANSING (AP) — State government winds up its 1964 year and usher in 1965 this week with a fistful of activities uncharacteristic of the business world's Christmas-to-New Year's lull.

Major event is the inauguration of Gov. George Romney at noon New Year's Day.

But the most significant could be Wednesday's meeting at which Republican Romney and Democratic Party legislative leaders will discuss state programs for 1965.

Romney and the Democrats have already sat down once to talk budget. Both sides said they were optimistic that harmony could reign next year despite the Democrats' overwhelming control of the House and Senate.

Democrats Map Strategy

The Democratic leadership is scheduled to huddle Tuesday to plan its strategy for the Romney meeting and, in part, for the legislative session.

They'll work from a statement of program goals prepared by the party's State Central Committee. It's mainly a wrapup of the party's 1964 state platform. Priorities have yet to be determined.

Practically all observers expect the Democrats to put main emphasis on state aid to education, revision of workmen's compensation, mental health

U.S. And Soviet U.N. Dispute At Crucial Stage

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Negotiators at the United Nations reached a crucial stage today in their efforts to head off a Soviet-U.S. showdown over Russian refusal to pay peace-keeping assessments.

The negotiators hoped to work out some agreement before the assembly's next meeting, scheduled for Tuesday morning. The Security Council cannot function after Thursday — New Year's Eve — unless agreement is reached on the basic issue or unless two disputed council seats are filled without vote so as to avoid a challenge of the Soviets' right to vote.

The Soviet Union has refused to pay assembly assessments to finance the Congo and Middle East peace-keeping operations because it contends the Security Council alone has the right to start and finance such operations. It is more than two years behind in its total assessments.

The United States says that if a vote on anything is called in the assembly, the Soviet Union must suffer the penalty set out in Article 19 of the U.N. Charter, which states that any member two years behind in assessments shall have no vote in the assembly.

To avoid a showdown, there has been no voting since the assembly convened Dec. 1. All necessary business has been done by general consent. Diplomatic sources said, however, Assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana had failed to get agreement to elect Securetary Council members the same way.

There is no problem concerning two of the four seats that become vacant at the end of the year on the 11-nation council. Uruguay and the Netherlands are unopposed candidates for the seats held by Brazil and Norway.

Arabs Helping Rebels In Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Premier Moise Tshombe has told the United Nations Security Council that Egyptian and Algerian officers are commanding Congolese rebels along the country's northeast frontier.

Tshombe also said his government has "irrefutable proof" that the two countries are supplying war materials to the rebels and asked that these charges be added to the Congo's bill of indictment against Algeria, the United Arab Republic and the Sudan already before the council.

Cliffs Pioneering In Mining Of Oil Shales

THIS MINING shaft, 50 feet by 30 feet, enters the area near where Colony Development Co. will mine oil shale in Colorado. The U.S. Bureau of Mines opened this shaft at the end of World War II.

Upper Peninsulaans who think of Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co. as interested only in iron mining and timberland management and lake carrying have got to revise their view as the more than a century old giant of U.P. industry moves into industrial diversification.

The current Cliffs News reports on Cliff's venture into oil shale mining in Colorado with a pilot plant in mountains 25 miles northwest of Rifle.

Objective of this venture is the commercial production of petroleum from oil shale. Cliffs' skill and knowledge as a miner of iron ore is being combined with the petroleum refining capability of The Standard Oil Co. of Ohio (Sohio) and the oil shale research background of Oil Shale Corp. (Tosco) of New York. A joint venture has been created to tackle this challenging commercial operation that now seems feasible in an oil-hungry world faced with sharply rising costs in finding new oil reserves.

Sohio has a 40% interest in the joint venture while Cliffs and Tosco each have 30%. Colony Development Co. has been formed to act as agent for this venture. An option on 7,500 acres of oil shale land near Rifle has been granted by the Dow Chemical Co., while an additional 8,400 acres in Utah have also been set aside for ultimate development.

Because heat is the only known method to extract oil successfully from the shale deposits, workers on the present pilot operations refer to a "unique petroleum cookout" now underway in one of the rockiest areas of the Rocky Mountains.

Estimates of oil contained in the 16,500 square miles of oil shale deposits in the states of Colorado, Wyoming and Utah, reach 2 trillion barrels, or perhaps five times the entire world's crude oil reserves.

On the Colorado scene playing a key role in directing the important and costly mining or shale-producing job during the development stage is Hugh J. Leach, Cliffs vice president who is also vice president in charge of mining for Colony.

Leach points out that the shale is marlstone, a cousin of limestone, laid down as bottom sediments in three lakes between 50 and 75 million years ago. These sediments make up the Green River formation and run from 1,500 to 2,000 feet thick. Some of the sediments ments, and oil companies took another look at shale potential.

In 1920 a couple of oil company geologists in the Rocky Mountains found rocks that would burn. They improvised a small retort, using a plumber's blowtorch for heat. They succeeded in distilling out liquid hydrocarbons. There was an almost immediate scramble by oil companies and others to lease oil shale lands. By far the largest deposits, however, are on state and federal public lands.

Toward the end of World War II, the U.S. government launched a $17-million crash program of research on oil shale. A pilot plant was built near Rifle, Colo., and a model mine was opened. Congress, however, terminated the plant operations in 1955. Two years ago Congress authorized leasing of the Rifle plant to non-federal experimentation.

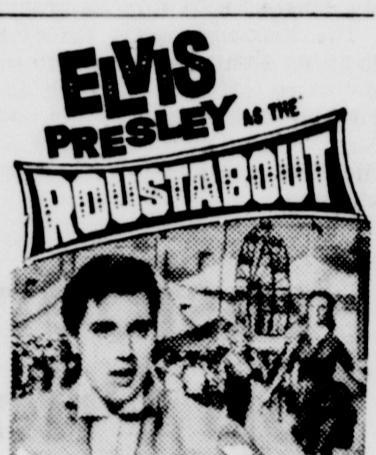

Now in its eighth year, the program began in 1958 when Northern, at its own expense, conducted a two-week pilot program for 17 boys.

Oil shale is quite dense and contains no liquid oil. Instead, it holds solid hydrocarbons and organic materials known as Kerogen. Heated to about 900 degrees, Kerogen breaks down to form liquid and gaseous hydrocarbons. Rich shale will contain more than 25 gallons of liquid hydrocarbons per ton of rock. The liquid hydrocarbons can be refined into high grade petroleum products by present oil-industry techniques.

Although oil shales have been known to exist for many years, cost of producing oil from them never has been commercially competitive with crude oil. But with costs of reserves rising higher and higher, and advances in technology, shale oil production seems quite promising.

Actually, the shale oil "industry" is older than the commercial production of petroleum from drilled wells. The U.S. Bureau of Mines states that the production of shale oil dates back to the 17th Century in England, where medicinal oils were produced from bituminous shales. France started shale oil production in 1838; Scotland, in 1850.

Until shortly after World War I, new discoveries of petroleum eliminated the incentive to develop shale oil reserves. After the first World War, though, there was an oil shortage "scare." The government began shale oil experi-

5 Million Trees Sold By Farmers

Latest reports indicate that Michigan farmers marketed nearly five million Christmas trees during the 1964 Holiday season.

This is up nearly one million from the number of Christmas trees sold in 1963, according to R. T. Hartwig, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

"The potential for improving the quality of Michigan-grown Christmas trees is logical since our state is one of the nation's largest shippers of plantation-grown trees," says Hartwig. He adds that Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin together produce and sell one-third of the Christmas trees used in the United States each December.

EAST LANSING—Nearly 50,000 persons will converge on the Michigan State University campus during the first week of February, 1965.

It's the 50th anniversary of Farmers' Week. And this event, one of the few of its kind in the U.S., will have something for everybody from the gentleman farmer to the hired hand; from the farmer's wife and children to the scientist concerned with agriculture.

Business Enjoys Fruitful Season

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a merry Christmas for business.

Stores' cash registers jangled a happy tune right up to the closing hours Christmas Eve.

Automobile and steel production was at record levels.

Corporations have issued glowing dividend and earnings declarations.

And predictions by businessmen and economists generally were for continued growth, at least in the early part of 1965.

Retail Buying Spurts

Christmas sales reached record levels in many sections of the nation. An exception was the Pacific Northwest where widespread floods cut into business.

Expectations were that December retail business had topped the record total of $25.6

billion in December 1963.

The volume for 1964 was estimated at $260 billion. Some retail industry sources predicted a rise to $275 billion next year.

The automobile industry topped the 1955 record of 7,410,-

000 new car sales with 10 days still to go in this year. The first eight-million-car sales year, including imports, seemed assured.

Sales in the middle 10 days of December totaled 217,017, bringing the number for calendar

1964 to 7,439,000.

Good Year Ahead

The holidays cut work schedules of most car assembly plants in half. As a result, output during the week was estimated at 122,800 passenger cars, off 44 per cent from the previous week's 219,658 and down 6 per cent from 131,165 a year earlier.

John F. Gordon, president of General Motors Corp., the world's largest manufacturing company, reported its sales and earnings will set records this year and that 1965 looks like another good year. GM earned

$1,591,823,000 on sales of $16,494,

$18,000 in 1963.

Steel production during the week climbed to the highest level since March 1960. Mills turned out 2,645,000 tons, up 0.6

per cent from 2,629,000 the previous week. The holiday sliced production this week but the industry already had exceeded the 1957 record.

Inland Steel Co. initiated a $6-a-ton increase in the price of galvanized sheets and coils.

U.S. Steel Co., the No. 1 steel-maker, and Republic Steel Corp.,

third-ranking, followed and other companies were studying the move.

Over Million Vets Eligible For GI Insurance

More than a million-and-a-half veterans may not know that they are eligible for the re-opening of GI insurance, say Veterans Administration officials.

They are those whose disabilities, although adjudged to be service-connected, are so slight that they do not rate monthly compensation payments.

The fact that their disabilities are service-connected makes them eligible to apply for National Service Life Insurance.

Robert M. Fitzgerald, VA's regional manager for Michigan, explained that the VA has no way to trace these individuals to notify them of their eligibility. Veterans receiving compensation checks can be notified through the mails.

The majority of these million-and-a-half veterans have lost complete touch with VA, since there was no reason to notify the agency of their whereabouts. VA records show that 1,600,000 veterans of World War II or the Korean War period have been adjudged service-connected in a non-compensable category.

Veterans interested in the re-opening of the GI insurance program may obtain an information sheet by writing the Veterans Administration Regional Office, 210 Gratiot St., Detroit.

New Tech Prexy

Dr. Raymond Lloyd Smith has been elected president of Michigan Tech at Houghton to succeed Dr. J. R. Van Pelt, who becomes chancellor of the university on Jan. 1.

Dr. Van Pelt has given Tech a distinguished administration in a time of great growth in higher education and in Tech. He is a distinguished educator and citizen and he has brought educational concepts of high quality to the Houghton school and its Sault Ste. Marie Branch and it is fortunate for the Upper Peninsula and for Michigan education that his talents will continue to be available to the university in the office of chancellor.

Bob Van Pelt's depth perception, to crib a term from the driver training course, is excellent. He understands the deep undercurrents which are active in America's economy and society and what education should be doing to serve and guide their growth. His integrity shines like a beacon on Quincy Hill and his fine grasp of the complexities of technical education were a blessing to the U.P.'s old "College of Mines" in this period of eruptive knowledge in technology and of an unprecedented expansion of higher education.

Tech seems fortunate, too, in its board of control's choice of Dr. Smith as the university's new president. He is professor and head of Tech's Department of Metallurgical Engineering and coordinator of the university's research program.

He is a native of Maine who earned a Bachelor of Science degree at the University of Alaska. He did graduate work in metallurgical engineering at the University of Pennsylvania and received his Master of Science degree there in 1951 and his Doctor of Philosophy degree in 1953. He served in the Army Ordnance Corps in World War II, taught at the University of Alaska afterward and then returned to the University of Pennsylvania as a research associate before joining the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia and going on to Tech, where he made his Department of Metallurgical Engineering one of the largest and most respected in the nation.

The selection committee which started last January to seek a successor to Dr. Van Pelt, did much screening of available university administrators and found its best bet right at home on the Tech campus in the person of Dr. Smith. Its selection was one which won hearty acclaim on the campus and in Houghton-Hancock where Dr. Smith is well known. It was the community belief that he'd be just dandy.

His new office, like that of Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan University at Marquette, is one of the most important in the Upper Peninsula. They are leaders of large educational enterprises, but they are also strong influences in the economy and leaders in government and civic affairs.

The Upper Peninsula has seen in Dr. Harden's build-up of the Northern campus such a genius at work that Dr. Smith will inevitably come under comparison with Dr. Harden's administration of Northern and he should welcome it and take heart from what has been done at Marquette as well as at Houghton, because it is another gauge of possibilities and it is also a notice to the Legislature, to the private dorm financers, the public and all the other elements in the university complex that as Northern goes, so goes Tech. (The slogan ought to come easy and familiarly to a Man from Maine!)

Tech was created at Houghton because the mineral industry there made it a logical site for a college of mines. Now it serves many educational needs and it finds itself off the mainstream of population movement. It must draw its students from afar by the excellence of its offerings and it has been able to do this and to grow. The prospects for continuing this attraction continue bright under its new leadership.

CHINA POLICY

It is only too apparent that President Johnson's reluctance to come to a speedy decision on South Viet Nam mess is fear of Red China's intervention.

The situation being thus, our future actions will be carried out under the onus of fear and hesitancy — a very poor and a questionable method to deal with the South Viet Nam problem, to say the least.

It should be of interest for us to reflect on the fact: How come Red China is in such a position as to challenge the United States to the extent that we hesitate to carry out a policy we know that we should adopt?

It may jolt us good Americans to know, at this late date, we lost China to the Reds because of our policy with regard to the Far East. We adopted and followed the counsel of the so-called Institute of Pacific Relations. We swallowed the big lie that the forces fighting Chiang Kai-Shek were not Communists, but "agrarian reformers."

And so we sold China down the river to the Communists. And in consequence we have a hot potato in our hands. And remember, this all took place during a Democratic administration when the ultra-liberalists had their heyday.

I dislike mud slinging and this recent bout of heat and hate reached a new high. It takes you back to the old days of the Senator from our neighboring state. Dip a broom in a barrel of hot tar and swing it around your head. Guaranteed to do a lot of damage.

I don't know what any one else thought about the ad campaign but personally it made me a little bit sick to my stomach . . . I couldn't find a thing about them that sounded American. Too bad this had to happen so near Christmas . . .

As the average citizen does, I have never attended a school board meeting nor bothered to look over the school budget. I thought the board members were able people who gave a lot of time to a thankless job.

I admire them. They have certainly taken a lot. And how can you strike back at a shadow?

In some of the unsigned ads there have been references to the American way and the ways of our forefathers. My forefathers always came out in the open to attack. Are we supposed to believe that Patric Henry's speech appeared in the Virginia Tribune as an unsigned article?

In a recent ad there was something about "we offered the school board a plan of 4 mills the first year etc., etc., — and they ignored it." I get cold chills at the thought that perhaps this secret cell could deliver . . .

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There has now been time for experts to make a thorough study of the operations of Swedish Soviet agent Col. Stig Wennerstroem.

These studies are alarming. They reveal an unexpectedly high degree of Soviet "professionalism" (competence) in sophisticated agent operations.

They also disclose weaknesses in American military - industrial security.

It was made abundantly clear from the Wennerstroem operations that the Soviets have come a long way from the spying techniques of the Whittaker Chambers and Alger Hiss days.

These common American security weaknesses were disclosed by the Wennerstroem testimony:

First—Wennerstroem and his Soviet chiefs noted a tendency by Americans to highly classify many items of little or no use to the Russians and to under-classify or leave in the clear many items the Reds considered of prime intelligence interest.

This less-than-perfect system of classification, of course, makes life easier for Soviet agents. Wennerstroem took full advantage of it.

Second—Wennerstroem noted that in many places men handling secret information tended to take his word that he was entitled to have access to secret material. Apparently he was not asked for documentary proof. Seemingly, some of these men gave him information without checking with Pentagon or State Department security men.

Third—There seems to be a tendency among higher governmental and company officials to be more lax in security than lower officials. If a top man met Wennerstroem under the right circumstances socially, he frequently was automatically considered O.K.

Fourth—Among the men and women Wennerstroem met, there seemed to be a tendency to believe that if a man wasn't a Communist, then he couldn't be a spy.

There apparently have been so many stories about the kind of people who supposedly spy for the Russians that it is difficult for some Americans to conceive of a socially acceptable, conservative - appearing colonel from a fine country like Sweden actually being a spy.

Wennerstroem apparently was spying for excitement, for money or for revenge for having been passed over for promotion—or for a combination of all three of these reasons.

Fifth—There seems to be a weakness in the way that U.S. and Allied officers transport classified material in foreign countries. It seems from the Wennerstroem testimony that if the Russians know a particular man is carrying a document they want, they have good techniques for securing that document, copying and returning it without the officer-courier knowing about it.

The Reds seemed in cases cited by Wennerstroem to be able to accomplish this theft whether the officer was carrying the document on his person or in a diplomatic pouch. How they did this is not disclosed in the Wennerstroem unclassified testimony.

Some experts in the security field now favor classifying certain material, then making certain that security precautions are tightened on what's left.

The Doctor Says:

Hope For Nearsightedness

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

There is a great deal of confusion in the popular mind that too much close work or about nearsightedness. We start to read at too early an age is the cause. But careful caused by the eyeball losing studies have revealed that it is almost spherical shape and occurs just as frequently in the becoming elongated. What nomads of the Arabian desert as causes this change in shape is among avid readers. It is more likely that close work under conditions of insufficient or improperly placed lighting is a contributory cause.

The common form, simple nearsightedness, may be in the other type, progressive part hereditary. In this form, nearsightedness, also starts in adolescence but advances more rapidly. If not checked it can gradually increase until the mid 20s, then remains fairly stationary.

Escanaba Planning War On 'Downtown Droop'

BY CLINT DUNATHAN

There is general agreement that one of Escanaba's major challenges in 1965 is a carry-over from 1964 and prior years. What is to be done about the improvement of the city's downtown business district?

The approaches are many, the interest in finding an answer is high, and there is every prospect that a community that could correct the "blight area" of lower Ludington St. can also come up with a solution to the decline of the central business district.

Joining in consideration of the proposed program are the City Council, the Planning Commission, and a committee of the Retail Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

There has been plenty of thinking about the problem. The Planning Commission joined with the Retail committee to give the program a push toward the action stage at a meeting of the City Council recently.

Planning Study

The Council, which has also been doing some planning through its city manager, took the ball and authorized City Manager George Harvey to run with it in the direction of a community-wide planning study — with the assistance of Urban Renewal federal funds if possible.

The city manager and Milton Embes, administrative aide and Planning Commission secretary, are assembling information in preparation for a report to the Council that will include a request for budgeted funds for a planning function.

The Council is interested in tackling the community-wide problems of planning as well as those of the downtown section, and it wants to have some professional help and advice when it comes time to make decisions. This is highly important, because decisions in such an important field of public endeavor can have far-reaching consequences.

One of the undeniable facts of the American scene is the rapid development and expansion of the shopping center.

Shopping Center

It is this real threat to the continuing prosperity of the downtown district that has triggered much of the concern by local retailers.

The International Council of Shopping Centers met recently in New York City. Some 600 shopping center developers and major department and chain stores attended. An observer representing the Michigan Press Association, Louis J. Eberman of Whitehall, had these comments:

"The old idea that a shopping center was primarily for discount merchandise is not longer valid." Some rate as "deluxe as Fifth Avenue" in the minds of shoppers.

"Figure that no matter where you are located, there will be a shopping center built, sooner or later, in an area that will hurt your present town's 'core' business district," Bertram advised.

Off Street Parking

He suggested ways in which newspapers might help in preservation of the downtown trade. But — the shopping center is here to stay and is growing rapidly and it can be assumed "that shopping center development will radically change the face of smaller towns of this country in the next 10 years."

In Escanaba the retailers, backed by the Planning Commission, recommended to the Council the immediate acquisition of more off-street parking.

They asked that the city borrow from local banks at 3 per cent interest use the money to purchase the additional parking areas. The money would be repaid over a period of years from parking meter rentals.

The Council received the recommendation and made it a part of the other considerations related to planning for the community.

Take Out Meters

The retailers had also suggested that parking meters be placed on off-street parking lots.

The need for thorough study of the parking problem is indicated in the many approaches being advocated for its solution.

For example, there is a report in the December issue of Public Management magazine from St. Petersburg, Fla., that supports the proposition that removal of parking meters facilitates street parking.

This information will be welcomed by motorists and some merchants who have an aversion to the "sidewalk bandits." The report from St. Petersburg in part:

Shorter Stay

"Removal of 4,186 on-street parking meters here has provided a 13-per cent gain in the use of on-street parking facilities.

"The meters were removed in March, 1963, following

Little Girl, 8, Is In Big Money

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Donna Butterworth, 8, moved into the big money with a 10-week contract from Paramount Pictures that impressed a judge. The contract to play in a Jerry Lewis picture is for $250 a week, plus $5,000 and a series of options up to five years.

Superior Court Judge Ben Koenig, who approved the contract for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Butterworth of Kailua, Hawaii, had this comment:

"You must have talent. This is one of the most lucrative contracts I have seen for a girl your age."

complaints from merchants in the central business district that the meters were hampering retail trade.

A progress report issued last July shows that free curb parking in the central business district did not increase the time of cars parked. Average parking time actually dropped 29 minutes during the last full year with meters to 26.5 minutes during the first full year with free curb parking.

With the removal of the meters a uniform two-hour time limit was imposed throughout the central area. With metered parking, 62 per cent of the parkers stayed 30 minutes or less. With free parking, this ratio increased to 74 per cent, it was reported.

Beetle Battle Gaining Ground

By PHIL BROWN

Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP) — It has been largely a happy old year for agriculture in Michigan, with successes including an important breakthrough in fighting cereal leaf beetle, the State Agriculture Department director says.

G. S. McIntyre said the cereal leaf beetle was found vulnerable to technical Malathion air acre.

Malathion, he explained, is an insecticide with a short lived residue. Some 100,000 acres were treated with it during 1964.

The cereal leaf beetle potentially is the greatest known destroyer of small grain, McIntyre said. Its discovery in Michigan over the last several years led to quarantines in 34 counties this year.

In a year-end report, McIntyre also reported progress against Japanese beetles and against two major cattle diseases — bovine tuberculosis and brucellosis.

Infested Areas Treated

The Japanese beetle population in Michigan is as low as it has been in many years, he said, except for a serious infestation in the Battle Creek area.

In years past, McIntyre said, as many as 80,000 acres have been treated in a single program aimed at eradicating Japanese beetles.

This year, he said, about 12,000 acres at Battle Creek were treated with insecticide and, in the rest of the state combined, 1,054 other acres also were found to be infested and were treated.

McIntyre reported only 76 cattle herds in Michigan were under quarantine for brucellosis, compared with a total of 7,055 infected herds in 1955.

He said 82 herds were under quarantine for tuberculosis, compared with 500 to 600 four and five years ago.

"This is important," he added, "because the state's farmers realize 41 per cent of their income from the sale of cattle, calves and dairy products. Agricultural cash receipts were slightly more than $785 million in 1963, the last year for which figures are available."

Output Is Up

Turning to crop reports, McIntyre noted that as always, some farmers fared better than others since "temperatures, rainfall and other factors make farming one of the greatest gambles of all."

The combined output of 18 major field and fruit crops was 11.4 million tons — or 8 per cent more than in 1963 and 10 per cent above the 1959-62 average, he said.

The farmers who didn't fare so well were in parts of southwest Michigan, where drought and warm, dry winds caused crop losses ranging up to 75 per cent in corn in St. Joseph County. Kalamazoo County also was hard hit.

There also were problems with frost harming potato crops in the Montcalm County area.

Bumper crops were reported in Michigan this year, McIntyre said.

Apples set a record 18.5 million bushels and Red Tart cherries hit a high of 170,000 tons—creating a serious harvesting, processing and marketing problem.

These records compare with a five-year average of 13.3 million bushels for apples and 84,000 tons for cherries.

"All in all," McIntyre summed up, "1964 was a significant year in Michigan's agricultural progress, and it is hoped this may continue through the coming year."

Reds Gaining In Control Of South Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Leaders of the rebel Viet Cong claim the guerrillas fighting the government of South Viet Nam control three-fourths of the country and more than half the people as the year nears an end.

Chairman Nguyen Huu Tho made the claim in a statement to the ruling Politburo of the Viet Cong Central Committee.

The statement would be difficult to challenge.

He added that the balance of forces was shifting in favor of the Viet Cong, and this, too, coincides with available information on the Saigon side.

On Dec. 20, 1960, when the Viet Cong formally organized itself, the guerrillas had at most 2,000 men under arms, opposing national armed forces of some 400,000. Today, Viet Cong strength is estimated at around 120,000 against a government force of some 615,000 men under arms, including police. Although the government still holds the numerical edge, its ratio is worse.

Operation Fails

Each time during the past four years that the government has sought to wipe out the guerrillas in some given area, Saigon has bitten off more than it could chew. The mobility provided U.S. troop-carrying helicopters has helped, but not enough.

Saigon and its Washington ally spent tens of millions of dollars in 1962 on a project called "Operation Sunrise," aimed at cleaning out a key Viet

Over 550 Killed In Auto Mishaps

By The Associated Press

More than 550 persons lost their lives in highway accidents during the three-day Christmas weekend.

The toll was well below the 1955 record of 609 deaths, but within the range predicted by the National Safety Council.

The final tabulation had 555 persons killed on the highways during the 78-hour period that began at 6 p.m. Thursday and ended at midnight Sunday. The safety council had estimated that between 550 and 650 holiday travelers could perish.

Only five states — Alaska, Hawaii, Maine, Montana and Washington — reported no fatal ties. In at least five states, holiday accidents helped set 12-month records.

While traffic deaths mounted at an alarmingly fast pace during the early hours of the holiday period, they slacked off during the closing hours, despite the homeward rush in many areas in fog, rain and snow.

Multiple deaths pushed the toll upward in several states.

In California, a three-car crash on rain-slicked U.S. 101 near Oceanside took five lives. Three persons lost their lives in a collision in Wisconsin Rapids and three others were killed in a smash-up in northern Illinois.

The three Wisconsin deaths plus five other fatalities there in separate accidents, helped set a 12-month record. The toll in Wisconsin now stands at 1,048 for 1964, well past the previous high of 957 in 1962.

Four At Ferris From Escanaba On Dean's List

BIG RAPIDS — Four residents of Escanaba were among the more than 650 Ferris State College students who were named to the Dean's Honor List for academic excellence during the past quarter. Dr. Ardwyn J. Dolio, Vice President for Academic Affairs, has announced.

To be named to the Dean's Honor List a student must maintain at least a B average while carrying a full academic load.

The students are Michael C. Davis, freshman in the Trade and Industrial Division and son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davis; Edmund J. Hengesh, senior in the School of Pharmacy and son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Hengesh; Norman R. Menard, freshman in the Trade and Industrial Division and son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Menard; Susan J. Vanlerberghe, sophomore in Teacher Education and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vanlerberghe.

Dairy Training Courses Offered

EAST LANSING — Michigan livestock producers should spend more time improving management and less on chores.

But their problem is finding help to do the necessary chores.

That's a consensus of Michigan State University Extension Service livestock specialists.

"The average dairy farmer can well afford to devote less time to doing chores and put more effort into necessary money-making adjustments. But getting qualified, capable hands that can take over part of the work load so he can spend more time planning and organizing continues to be a problem."

Relief may come for some dairymen through two special short courses at Michigan State University under the Manpower Development and Retraining Act. On Jan. 11, 1965, the first of two eight-week courses, each to train 20 dairy farm hands, will begin.

Industry Likes Michigan Laws

DETROIT (AP)—A researcher's report says Michigan is the "most desirable" among eight comparable industrial states for new industry because of amendments to its strike-related unemployment compensation laws.

The W. E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research comes to this conclusion, assuming "all other factors" are the same.

The Kalamazoo institute made the report public on the weekend. It was the last in a series of five studies on aspects of Michigan's economy.

Upjohn Institute said it is comparing its findings from comparing the amended Michigan Employment Security Act with the statutes of seven other comparable states. Court decisions were included in the comparison.

The other states were Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

The study was made in the light of the 1963 amendment to the Michigan Act resulting from the controversial Supreme Court decision in the 1959 Ford-Canton strike.

Under the court decision non-striking Ford workers in Michigan who were laid off in a strike at the Canton, Ohio, Ford foundry were given unemployment compensation. Ford said the Michigan layoffs were necessary because of a strike-caused lack of supplies from the Ohio plant.

The amended law places limitations on such compensation.

Upjohn Institute said the Act's amendments have made Michigan the "most desirable among the selected (eight) states for industrial plant location, assuming that all other factors influencing such management decision-making remain the same in comparison."

Exception was taken by the Employers' Unemployment Compensation Council to the Institute's conclusions. The Council represents approximately 1,000 Michigan employers.

Colin Smith, executive secretary, criticized the Institute's selection of other states for comparisons. Smith said these states have "looser provisions" in laws bearing on unemployment compensation in strikes.

Daily Strike Beats Record

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A strike by American Newspaper Guild Local 11 against the Youngstown Vindicator Sunday night passed the 131-day record set last fall in Detroit for a strike against a metropolitan newspaper.

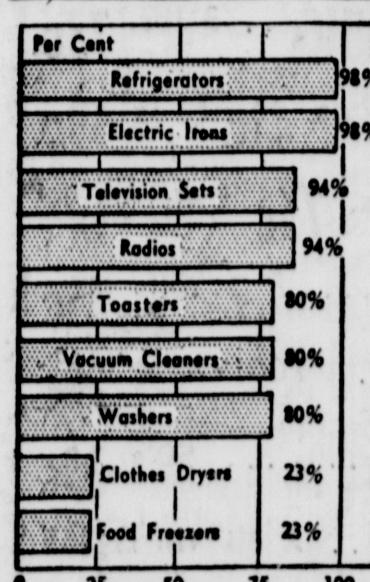

An exchange of statements marked the occasion, with each side blaming the other for the lack of negotiations in their dispute and calling for a renewal of talks. The last bargaining session, one of only a few widely spaced meetings, was held in mid-November. No new sessions are scheduled.

About 450 employees of the afternoon daily, including 110 guildsmen, walked out Aug. 18 after a breakdown in efforts to negotiate initial coverage provisions for a group of 42 outside circulation employees who voted in a National Labor Relations Board election last spring to have the guild represent them.

The guild said management's proposals for these circulation employees were sub-standard. Management said the guild's proposals would encroach on management's rights.

The other plant unions have respected the guild's picket lines.

The Vindicator has continued to publish a small daily edition put out by supervisory help. Since Labor Day the guild has published the tabloid-size Steel Valley News daily except Saturday.

CONSUMERS' CHOICE — The average American home boasts a fairly complete array of time-saving appliances, according to a Labor Department survey. The survey shows that 98 of every 100 homes include a refrigerator and iron and 94 of every 100 have one or more radios and television sets. Lowest on the list? Clothes dryers and food freezers are in 23 per cent of all homes.

Tooth Decay Bad In U.S.A.

MONTREAL (AP)—An American government dental researcher reported new evidence that tooth decay "is a disease of civilization" with the United States and other highly developed countries near the top of the list.

Dr. Albert B. Russell of the U.S. National Institute of Dental

Research, Bethesda, Md., told an international meeting of scientists that a study of tooth decay showed white people in Baltimore rank almost as poorly as the urbanized Aleuts of Alaska's National Guard.

The Aleuts have a record of decayed, missing and filled teeth about 60 times worse than people in Ethiopia.

The latter country—and nations of the Far East—take the honors for having the fewest decayed molars and other teeth, reported Dr. Russell.

He said there is other evidence to indicate that the Baltimore findings "can be taken as reasonably representative of the United States as a whole." He offered no views on where the Russians stand in the dental parade.

Russell said these and other findings of the global study—some of them marked by seeming paradoxes—tend to fortify the view that there is no single explanation for tooth-decay.

In particular, he indicated, the findings re-emphasize the view that relative freedom from tooth decay among primitive peoples is due to something other than their nutrition and dietary status. He said such people enjoy such a record despite the fact they do not eat the so-called tooth-protective foods, nor brush their teeth.

Russell told about it in a report prepared for the 131st meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science—the world's largest general-science organization—whose yearly Christmastime conclaves are sometimes referred to as the "world series" of science.

Ford Co. And Utilities Back Village Project

Detroit (AP)—Three public utilities and Ford Motor Co. have joined in the drive to back the International Village project in downtown Detroit.

Ford took a $25,000 subscription in third mortgage certificates as did Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. and Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

Detroit Edison Co. took a $50,000 subscription.

Walter Shamie, president of International Village Inc., said that despite these and other subscriptions it did not appear a goal of $925,000 would be reached by a Jan. 1 deadline.

Shamie said the money was needed before federal funds and local loans could be made available.

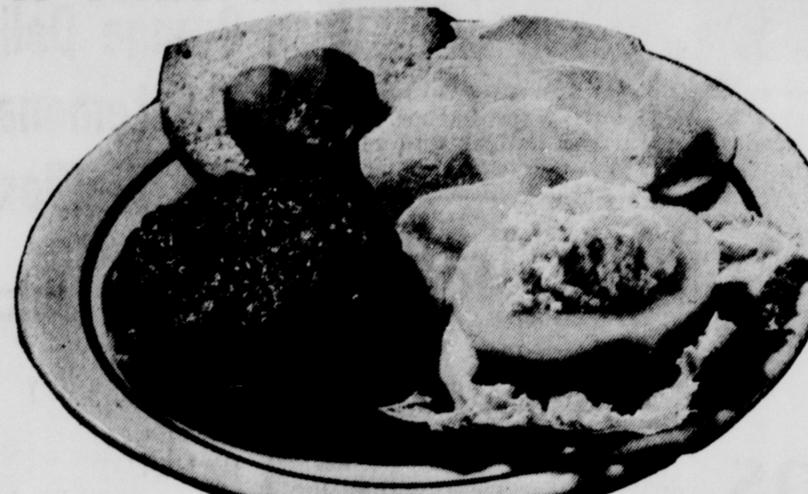

The project visualizes creation of a complex of downtown shops and entertainment facilities on cleared urban renewal land.

'Blank' Shell Injures Youth

James Paulin, 18, of 224 N. 20th St., is reported in "fairly good" condition at St. Francis Hospital where two pieces of rifle shell jacket were removed from his lower chest today after an accident Sunday afternoon.

Escanaba police said Paulin was accidentally wounded when he struck a blank .30 caliber shell with the pointed end of a nail. The blank shell was held in a vise and Paulin struck the nail with a hammer.

Police reported that Allen Winters, 306 N. 18th St., who is on leave from the U.S. Marine Corps, and Paulin went to the Paulin garage about 2:30 p.m. Sunday. The accident occurred about 2:45 and police were notified at 3 p.m.

The brass jacket of the shell was torn apart by the explosion of the powder and two pieces struck Paulin, penetrating his lower chest.

In Oregon, the State Board of Health began getting queries on how to prevent typhoid fever. The board said it had plenty of vaccine on hand. The Oregon State Police reported their operations had returned to normal.

One of the closing rescue operations in Idaho was the airlift of 31 persons from a remote sawmill in mountains 70 miles southeast of Boise.

The management of the mill sponsored the lift after the road to the mill became blocked by more than 20 slides. The sawmill families were taken to Boise where most have relatives.

Christmas Spree Ends In Jail For Local Man

A pre-Christmas spending spree ended in the Delta County jail today for 37-year-old Anthony C. Micheles of 223 S. 18th St.

Micheles pleaded guilty to charges of uttering and publishing insufficient fund checks when arraigned before Justice A. J. Mortier of Gladstone. He was sentenced to spend 90 days in jail.

State Police of the Gladstone Post said that Micheles had written "at least" 13 checks for small amounts in local stores and restaurants over a two-day period just before Christmas.

When the checks returned to the bank there was no account, police said. Micheles was arrested in Escanaba Sunday by City Police detectives.

Vacancies Filled

Over the weekend, Johnson filled three major government jobs. 1. James S. Gleason Jr., resigned as administrator of veterans affairs to return to the First National Bank in Chicago as first vice president. Johnson named William J. Driver to succeed him.

Driver, 45, has been deputy administrator of the VA and becomes the first career worker to hold the post.

2. Joseph P. McMurray re-signed as chairman of the Federal Home Loan Board to become president of Queens College in New York. Johnson named John E. Horne, a member of the board for the past 18 months, to succeed McMurray. Horne formerly headed the Small Business Administration.

3. John A. Carver Jr. of Boise, Idaho got a recess appointment as undersecretary of interior. Carver has been assistant secretary since Jan. 30, 1961. As undersecretary he succeeds James K. Carr, who resigned last July 15.

Port Tonnages On Little Bay Reach 7 Millions

Scheduled arrival of a tanker today with a cargo of fuel for the Standard Oil Co. Terminal here will close out a successful year of marine traffic at Little Bay de Noc ports. Total tonnage may exceed 7 millions.

The Amoco Indiana is due in about 6 o'clock tonight from Whiting, Ind., for the Standard Oil Co. She will have the help of the Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite in following channels through 6 to 8 inches of ice to reach open water in Green Bay.

The last boat of the year will discharge her cargo at the Standard Oil terminal tonight and will clear the harbor Tuesday morning, said terminal manager Robert Haack.

Took Six Hours

The tanker Martha E. Allen battled the ice for six hours on Sunday before making the Shell Oil Co. Marine Terminal at Wells about 6:30 last night. She brought a split cargo of gasoline and fuel oil from East Chicago.

Four or five times during the six-hour struggle in the ice the twin-screwed Allen

HERRING POTATO SALAD is tasty way to bring luck.

Salad Fulfils New Year's Custom

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

For good luck during the coming year, eat herring on New Year's Day. That's an old Scandinavian tradition. Many Italians observe it, too.

It's quite a delicious custom. In Denmark, we learned to enjoy herring in many ways, particularly in their wonderful open sandwiches of dark bread, herring, chopped eggs, marinated onions and a pinch of dill. Herring in sour cream served with boiled potatoes sprinkled with dill is a great combination. We first ate it in Bremen, Germany, in a restaurant under the ancient city hall. Herring Potato Salad, a good choice for the New Year's Eve buffet, combines potatoes, onion, green pepper and celery with herring into a dish to bring good luck and good health to your party guests.

HERRING POTATO SALAD

(6 to 8 servings)

6 cups sliced cooked potatoes
1 onion, chopped
3/4 cup cubed, drained herring in wine sauce, from jar or can

1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/4 cup chopped pimento
3/4 cup commercial French dressing

Lettuce
Radishes
Green pepper rings

Combine first seven ingredients. Toss well and chill. When ready to serve, line salad bowl with lettuce leaves. Top with potato and herring mixture. Garnish with radishes and green pepper rings. Serve with sliced tomatoes and thin slices of cold ham.

Priest Prefers Exile To Silence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest says he is going into "self-imposed exile" from the Los Angeles archdiocese "as the strongest protest I can make" because "I was ordered to maintain a silence on racism."

The Rev. John V. Coffield, 49, called his departure "a solution to an impasse between my cardinal (James Francis Cardinal) McIntyre and myself."

The cardinal was not available for comment.

Father Coffield said in a farewell statement to his parishioners that he was ordered to take a five-month "enforced vacation" from California earlier this year because he had spoken out against controversial Proposition 14.

Upheld By Voters

The proposition, upheld by voters last November, amended the state constitution to prohibit any abridgement of an individual's choice to whom he might sell or rent a home or apartment. In effect, it nullified state antidiscrimination housing laws. "Scarcely anyone knew of the shocking way I was ordered out of California after I had spoken out against Proposition 14," Father Coffield said in his statement.

Election Is Top Michigan News Item For 1964

Editor's Note—1964 proved a hectic year in Lansing. In addition to Gov. Romney's successful bid for re-election, the state legislature faced reapportionment and state governmental reorganization under the new state Constitution. Associated Press Correspondent Richard Barnes details the news-packed year in Lansing in the following story.

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP) — The 1964 election so thoroughly dominated the year's Capitol news that its effects probably will be the major story of 1965.

Republican Gov. George Romney rode the state's economic upsurge to a smashing reelection victory and national stature as a possible GOP presidential nominee in 1968.

Voters picked up where reapportionment left off in the wholesale retirement of legislators, and Romney's victory appeared even more impressive as Democrats took control of the legislature for the first time in three decades.

Romney's smashing success and the Democrats' ascendancy in the legislature at least for 1965-66 reversed the situation from 1949 through 1962, when Democratic governors fueled with Republican legislatures.

Challenged By Scholle
The turnaround was achieved against the background of a new state constitution, which went into effect Jan. 1 and was still partially implemented by the year's end.

It was the constitution's provision for a geographic area factor in State Senate apportionment that eventually led to reapportionment suits, drastic overhauling of legislative district lines and resultant heavy turnover in the legislature.

State AFL-CIO President August Scholle led a court challenge of the constitutionality of the provision which based Senate representation 80 per cent on population and 20 per cent on area.

The constitution's formula was upheld in U. S. District Court March 16. Ten days later the State Supreme Court approved a Republican-sponsored reapportionment plan in line with the 80-20 formula.

But on June 15, the U. S. Supreme Court released its one-man, one-vote decision—ruling that both houses of a legislature must be districts on a population basis.

Boundaries Ignored
The Apportionment Commission went back to work and deadlocked. On June 22, the U. S. Supreme Court ruled specifically against the plan approved May 26.

Caught short by deadlines, Republican members of the apportionment commission had no one-man, one-vote plan to offer. Democrats did, the State Supreme Court approved it and Republicans led by Romney complained the rest of the campaign about the "vicious gerrymander."

The new lines, which in many cases ignored traditional jurisdictions and boundaries, put 29 legislators into multi-incumbent primary elections. Eighteen of them lost, along with 17 others who were in somewhat new districts.

By the time the Johnson landslide with its coattail effects had ploughed through the general election, only 45 per cent of the legislators from 1963-64 had survived for the 1965-66 sessions. Only Romney could induce significant ticket-splitting.

Swainson Steps Out

The gubernatorial campaign turned out the way many had expected early in the year—but not without many questionable moments in between.

Many Democrats expected former Gov. John Swainson to try to win his job back from Romney but Swainson was kept out of the race because of his problems with the artificial limbs he has worn since his legs were amputated during the war.

U. S. Rep. Neil Staebler, long-time party organizer who had won an at-large Congressional seat in 1962, declared his candidacy and wound up unopposed.

Responsibility for Michigan's economic progress was the biggest issue of the campaign. Staebler gave Washington the credit; Romney said much of it belonged at home.

The governor pointed to the state Treasury, which went from an $88 million deficit when he had taken office in 1963, to a $57 million surplus by June 30, 1964. And he cited the state's jump from 47th place to first place in rate of gain for personal income.

Tickets Split
At the outset hardly anyone thought Staebler had a chance. But as the campaign developed, he seemed to gain significantly in the polls.

Romney, himself, admitted that on election night when it was evident Johnson would win by a million, he got worried for a time.

But in a massive demonstration of ticket-splitting, the governor tore mightily into expected Staebler metropolitan strength and won by 382,000 votes—about what some observers expected back in the spring.

Seemingly a major factor in Romney's reelection was his refusal to endorse Sen. Barry Goldwater because of their differences on civil rights and extremism.

Although Romney's presidential star for 1968 shines much brighter in the wake of Goldwater's overwhelming defeat and Romney's impressive showing at the polls, the governor says he isn't thinking that far ahead.

Proud Of Progress
Throughout the campaign Romney repeatedly said the state "has solved more problems, made more progress and future progress than any other state in the union."

The 1964 legislature made some of it.

Despite the once-in-a-lifetime problems of implementing a new constitution and wrestling with election and congressional redistricting, legislators introduced a record 1,482 bills and passed 300. Many observers praised it as the most productive session in recent history.

The legislature established a state minimum wage of $1 for 1965, qualified Michigan for federal Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed after a lengthy battle and upped the operating budget to $694 million.

Property tax exemption was granted to tools, dies, jigs and fixtures to aid industrial expansion in Michigan.

Brown Stays On

The legislature implemented parts of the new constitution but bogged down on executive and administrative reorganization, whereby the 120-plus state agencies must be consolidated into not more than 20.

This reorganization is causing transitional problems, especially in state offices which were switched from elective to appointive by the new constitution. Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has already ruled that state treasurer Sanford Brown can stay in his job past his expected term-ending date of Jan. 1, 1965 until reorganization is completed.

This year's major Capitol story outside the election-legislative-political arena was the firing-reinstatement-suspension of three top National Guard officers in a land, money and liquor scandal.

Romney announced on Oct. 8 the findings of a lengthy investigation by Aud.-Gen. Billie Farnum. He fired Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald, the state's adjutant general; Brig. Gen. Carson Neffert, quartermaster general, and Col. Versel Case, Neffert's top assistant.

Land Deals Scanned

Farnum's investigation turned up alleged irregularities in sale of state land, liquor sales and consumption, and travel pay and wage procedures.

Most complicated were the allegations of sale of state land in the Camp Grayling area to military personnel, reputed to be an arrangement designed to get more suitable land for the National Guard.

Three days before the election, Kelley said Romney didn't have the authority to fire the officers. They were reinstated, suspended and now the two generals are awaiting a hearing before Romney.

These events also marked the Capitol year:

—A building program began directly west of the Capitol to add office and parking space for state government; the Capitol Building was cleaned outside for the first time, and legislative chambers were spruced up.

—A legislative committee investigated Ionia State Hospital after reports of alleged irregularities including brutality to patients. Disputes also flared late in the year at three other hospitals run by the Mental Health Department.

Democrats Rule, 12-7

—A Circuit Court of Appeals and State Board of Education were elected to start operation in 1965 under provisions of the new constitution.

—Congressional redistricting and the Johnson landslide combined to help change Michigan's delegation from 11-8 for the Republicans to 12-7 for the Democrats.

—A new four-member State Highway Commission was appointed under terms of the new State Constitution. It succeeds John Mackie, the nation's last elected highway commission. Mackie, meanwhile, won a seat in Congress as did Farnum, whose auditor-general post also was removed from the elective ranks.

Leukemia Virus Search 1964 Medical Highlight

Medical scientists found some strong evidence for the viral theory of human leukemia in 1964, stirring hopes for early proof of virus-leukemia relationship and providing some of the year's top medical news stories.

A review of medical headlines in 1964 shows that other virus hunters made news, too. Investigators of viral hepatitis, for example, were heartened by a report that human hepatitis virus had apparently induced disease in a laboratory animal. If the work is substantiated, a long-needed break in hepatitis vaccine research would seem to be near.

Still other medical news in 1964 was made by:

The harsh judgments on cigarette smoking rendered by the Public Health Service Surgeon General's Advisory Committee on Smoking and Health.

Emergence of the optical maser, or laser, as a potentially powerful weapon against some types of cancer, and ultrasound as an important diagnostic tool.

The American Medical Association and the Food and Drug Administration as they began to trade information on drugs and drug therapy in a new program of cooperation and computerization.

Encephalitis of epidemic proportions in Texas and New Jersey, with a scattering of cases in several other states.

One of the most dramatic developments in the virus-leukemia story came from England. Dr. Michael A. Epstein and colleagues of the Middlesex Hospital Medical School in London reported the first apparent transmission of human cancer to laboratory animals, and apparent success in growing a virus-like particle that is assumed to cause the disease.

The investigators said that African green monkeys developed apparently typical Burkitt lymphomas within two years after being inoculated with suspensions of fresh lymphoma cells from human patients. The Burkitt cells also were established in cell culture where they elaborated a small quantity of virus-like particles. Burkitt lymphoma is a leukemia-like disease of the tissues which produce white blood cells. It occurs among children in limited areas of tropical Africa and may be transmitted by insect bites.

The possibility of transmission by insects is a strong argument for a viral cause of this particular form of human cancer.

Probably only some infective agent, such as a virus, could be carried by insects from a Burkitt lymphoma victim to a previously unaffected person.

It isn't likely that lymphoma cells could be transmitted by insects from one person to another. Neither is it likely that human lymphoma cells, rather than some agent carried by the cells, were responsible for the apparent disease produced in laboratory monkeys; human cells inoculated into monkeys are probably quickly destroyed by the monkeys' immunologic defenses.

Human leukemia cells yielded viruses or virus-like particles to several teams of investigators during 1964, raising hopes that further study will pin down a relationship between the particles and the disease. Proof of a relationship has been elusive, though, and some scientists think it could remain so for a long time.

Garden Buffs To See Cazzie

NEW YORK (AP) — Madison Square Garden basketball buffs will get their first look at Michigan's Cazzie Russell tonight.

The favored Wolverines take on Manhattan in the first round of the 13th annual Holiday Festival tournament.

"I've played on the west coast and other big basketball places, but never Madison Square Garden," Russell, scoring star of the Wolverines, said Sunday. "It's been one of my desires to play there. Not me as an individual, but with this team."

The Garden holds 18,000 fans. Michigan's last appearance there was in 1947 in the NCAA tournament. The Wolverines lost to Bob Cousy and Holy Cross 63-45 in the first round and beat Columbia 66-49 in a consolation match.

Michigan coach Dave Strack played in the 1946 East-West College All-Star game there in 1946, scoring 9 points for the West which lost 60-59.

Manhattan is 5-1. Michigan is 6-1. Other teams in the meet include Cincinnati, St. John's of New York, LaSalle, Temple, Princeton and Syracuse.

Storm Clouds Lingering Over Blue-Gray Classic

By The Associated Press

While a quartet of seniors on Georgia's Sun Bowl winners looked forward to bright futures in professional football, storm clouds lingered over the Blue-Gray all-star game at Montgomery, Ala.

Armchair quarterbacks, meanwhile, savored the prospect of a television marathon New Year's Day and Saturday, when six classics — Rose, Cotton, Orange, Sugar, Gator and East-West Shrine — will be scored nationally.

Ray Rismiller, Jim Wilson, Frank Lankewicz and Wayne Swinford signed National Football League contracts last Saturday after leading the Bulldogs past Texas Tech 7-0 in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.

The Philadelphia Eagles signed fullback Lankewicz, who scored the game's only touchdown on a two-yard plunge and 225-pound tackle Rismiller, their second-round draft choice. Wilson, a 245-pound tackle who spearheaded Georgia's tenacious defense in the Sun Bowl and was named the outstanding player in the game, and Swinford signed with the San Francisco 49ers.

Jim Zanios, Texas Tech's 210-pound fullback, agreed to terms with the Dallas Cowboys of the NFL.

At Montgomery, where Penn State quarterback Gary Wyndham passed the Blue stars to a 10-6 victory over the Gray in the rain, game officials — facing a loss of prestige because of their segregation stand — pondered a possible lifting of the racial barrier which has cost them a national television contract.

A Blue-Gray source said Sunday he believes the future of the 27-year fixture will be insured only if Negro grididers are invited to participate.

The National Broadcasting Co. discontinued its telecast of the game last year after officials refused to alter their racial policy.

Saturday's game, which drew a crowd of 16,000 and was televised regionally into six states on a special network, was a defensive battle decided by Wyndham's 30-yard scoring pass to Bill Cronin of Boston College in the third period.

The Orange Bowl pairing of Texas and Alabama, the 1963 and 1964 national champion, respectively, heads the New Year's bill and completes an NBC triple-header. The Miami attraction, to be played for the first time after dark, has an 8 p.m. EST kickoff.

The Crimson Tide, unbeaten in 10 regular-season games, and the Longhorns, winners in nine of 10 starts, follow an afternoon card that matches Louisiana State, 7-2-1, and Syracuse, 7-3, in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans; Arkansas, 10-0, and Nebraska, 9-1, in the Cotton Bowl.

at Dallas and Michigan, 8-1, and Oregon State, 8-2, in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.

The Sugar and Rose classics will be aired by NBC, starting at 2 p.m., EST, and 5 p.m., EST, respectively. CBS will carry the Cotton Bowl scrap begining at 2 p.m. EST.

Florida State, 8-1, meets Oklaahoma, 6-3-1, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., and the East and West All-Stars clash in the Shrine Bowl at San Francisco on Saturday.

The FSU-Sooners game can be seen on ABC-TV, starting at 2 p.m., EST; the West Coast action, beginning at 5 p.m., EST, will be televised by NBC.

Buffalo Wins First AFL Championship

BUFFALO (AP) — Mike Stratton, 230-pound Buffalo linebacker, was the key man in two crucial plays that pointed the Bills to a 20-7 victory over San Diego and their first American Football League championship.

And on one of them it was all unintentional.

Both the losing coach and quarterback, Sid Gillman and Tobin Rote, named Stratton's play as decisive in their reviews of the championship game Saturday.

"If I hadn't underthrown that pass in the second quarter, we might have gotten some kind of score and turned the game in a different direction," said Rote, a 36-year-old veteran of three professional leagues who had played his last game.

He referred to a first-down play in the closing minutes of the first half. Buffalo had a 13-7 lead, but the Chargers were driving from the Bills' 15. Stratton picked off a Rote pass to end the threat.

"It there was a turning point," Gillman said, "that pass interception was it."

The loss of Keith Lincoln also hurt us. I would say, if anything, his loss helped Buffalo a great deal — we lost a lot of our football team when Lincoln was injured."

Lincoln, who gained 339 yards in all manners of offense in San Diego's 51-10 rout of Boston in the title game last year, appeared to be on his way to another great game before the injury.

In the first 4½ minutes he had picked up 47 yards rushing and had taken a pass for 11 more. Then Stratton nailed him with a crushing tackle and the San Diego fullback lay writhing on the ground. He eventually made his way to the sidelines and was through for the day — a right rib broken.

"It was a fine tackle by a fine football player," Lincoln said. "I was disappointed because we lost, and also because I couldn't play."

"I just thought Keith had the breath knocked out of him," Stratton said later. "I never realized I had broken a rib."

San Diego, sparked by Lincoln, swept 80 yards on a touchdown drive the first time the Chargers got their hands on the ball. Lincoln accounted for the first 54 yards, including a 38-yard run, and Rote hit Dave Kocourek with a 26-yard touchdown pass.

"It jarred us quick," said Buffalo Coach Lou Saban. "It jarred us to our senses — it upset us up."

Pete Gogolak got the Bills back in stride with a 12-yard field goal, Wray Carlton slammed over for the go-ahead touchdown a few minutes later and the Bills were ahead to stay.

Jackie Kemp, who completed 10 of 20 passes for 188 yards, sneaked over from the one for the other Buffalo touchdown and Gogolak added another field goal from the 11.

Buffalo fullback Cookie Gilchrist, who carried 16 times for 122 yards and took two passes for 22 more, was non-committal over reports that he may retire. "I can't make a statement like that," the 250-pounder said. "But I'd be happy to come back on the right terms."

Michigan Faces Stiffer Workout

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Michigan Coach Bump Elliott said he just wanted his team to "run around a little bit and stay in shape" Sunday, promised stiffer practice sessions again, starting today.

The Wolverines, who meet Oregon State in the Rose Bowl Friday, worked on offense and defense and reviewed game plans in the 75-minute practice session Sunday.

The Michigan squad worked in sweat clothes as a light rain, which started late Saturday, continued through the first half of the drills.

"We'll work harder starting tomorrow (Monday)," Elliott said, "although we probably won't hit hard again this week."

Following dinner Wednesday, the Wolverines will move out of their Pasadena hotel headquarters to a secluded spot near Los Angeles. They'll stay there until after the game, when they return to Pasadena.

The OSU Beavers, meanwhile, slogged through what Coach Tommy Prothro summed up as "the worst practice since we've been here."

Both offensive and defensive teams drilled for two and one-half hours on the UCLA field, concentrating heavily on offense.

Prothro blamed the disappointing workout in large measure on the dripping skies, which have now turned the practice field into a sea of mud with few patches left that haven't been chewed up.

Prothro's chief complaint was that the muddy footwork makes it impossible for the Beavers to hone their timing to a fine edge.

Missing Sunday were guard Joel Heacock and end Mike Sullivan, both of whom were bedded with the flu.

Prothro said he would hold afternoon drills Monday (only a half hour if rain continues), Tuesday and Wednesday, the last being a light drill.

Eskymo Alumni Extend Victory Streak, 90-64

It was the same old story in the seventh annual Alumni Holiday Basketball Classic Saturday night at the Holy Name gym.

Former prep stars from Escanaba High School handed ex-Holy Name players their seventh straight setback to the tune of 90-64.

After the first quarter, it was strictly no contest. The Eskymos of yesteryear flashed superior height, deadly shooting, rugged rebounding and better physical condition to handle their foes with relative ease.

In spite of the lopsided final result, the game gave former stars from both schools a chance to display outstanding individual abilities.

A large holiday crowd saw the Eskymos build a 14-11 first quarter cushion and take the halftime intermission with a 37-24 advantage. They pulled steadily away through the third and fourth quarters.

Four players reached double figures for Coach Don Scott with Dave Andrews and Jack Lindquist hitting 16 points apiece and Dennis Wilbee and Bill Eis tallying 13 each. A dozen players contributed to the Escanaba scoring total.

Setting the pace for Holy Name were Denny McGinn with 14 and Frank Stupak, 10 while Dick Burroughs added nine.

In a well-played preliminary game St. Pat's nipped St. Ann's by one point.

Larry Imman gave an impressive performance on the still rings at halftime.

Frank Ryan Big Man In Stunning Finale

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland has ended the rule of the West in the National Football League by exploding the myth of Baltimore's super-team on a grey, wintry Sunday afternoon.

When Frank Ryan, Gary Collins, Jim Brown and Co. finished rambling over the shocked Colts 27-0, they had exposed Johnny Unitas and Lenny Moore as ordinary mortals, not supernumeraries.

Because Baltimore rolled to 11 straight victories in the West and wound up with a brilliant 12-2 record, the Colts had been installed as solid seven-point favorites to chase the Browns into Lake Erie.

Baltimore's well-balanced offense was expected to shatter the Browns' defense, poorest in the league in the season statistics, and expose their pass defenders as inept pretenders.

The Browns' first title since 1955 and the first since Jim Brown joined the club as a rookie in 1957. They were beaten by Detroit in that '57 game. In fact, the West still holds a lopsided 20-15 edge in the annual championship game series, thanks largely to the Bears and Packers.

Ryan's abilities as a quarterback had been questioned by many, including some Cleveland fans, during several in-and-out performances. No more. Ryan hit with 11 of 18 for 206 yards, Units with 12 of 20 for 95 yards.

"They just couldn't stop Jimmy (Brown) and that slowed up their rushing on me," said Ryan. "If Jimmie wasn't human, I would have run him on every play."

No Defense

"As I've said before, there's no team in the NFL that can defend the Cleveland Browns. When we lose, we beat ourselves."

The Browns, who had smarted under the lash of their many critics, broke into the dressing room yelling, "How's that for laugh champs?"

An unnamed NFL coach allegedly had made such a disparaging remark about the Browns earlier in the season.

"Everybody picked us to

ARVID NELSON

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Messier-Broullin Funeral Home for Arvid Emil Nelson, who died Wednesday. Rev. Ingmar Levin officiated and J. Earl Cousineau, was soloist accompanied by Mrs. Roy LaMarche at the organ. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery. Pallbearers were Bernard Brawley, Harold Snellenburger, Leo DeMars, Ernest Preuss, Arnold Flodin and Vern Nelson.

Trotter pointed out that bids are not always received on the sales which are offered. So far a total of 5,000 cords on 10 sales have gone without bids. This situation is caused by the limited markets for products being offered. Certain products such as hardwood sawlogs are in great demand in most areas. "Our supply of hardwood logs available for sale is limited," said Trotter, "and we offer as much as our plan of management (cutting) allows."

This is one extreme in the complex business of supplying needed resources to Upper Peninsula wood using mills. The other extreme is the availability of such products as aspen pulpwood. This is present in long supply in almost every area. Between the two extremes, various conditions of supply and demand are found, depending on the species, size, condition, location, and product involved.

Establishment of a large mill or the great expansion of existing markets would substantially improve the economy of the Upper Peninsula, said Trotter.

Home Of Queen's Cousin Robbed

TIVERTON, England (AP) — A pair of burglars raided the country home of Mrs. Denys Rhodes, a cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, and made off with money belonging to the Maharani of Sikkim.

Police didn't disclose the amount of money taken from the maharani, who is the former Hope Cook, a New York socialite. The thieves also took some of Mrs. Rhodes' jewels, including a brooch given to her as a wedding present by the queen.

City Police also ticketed John George Konte, 208 N. 5th St., following an accident Thursday at the Siphon Bridge when the Konte car struck the rear of a car driven by Michael Donald Malloy, 20, of 239 Arbutus Ave. There were no injuries. Konte received a ticket for failure to stop in an assured distance ahead.

Gerald Charles Renk, 17, 232 Oak St., was given a ticket for failure to have his vehicle under control when he hit the rear of an auto driven by Vernon Oscar Anderson, 55, 318 Schoolcraft Ave. The accident occurred at the corner of Elk and River St. near the monument.

The State Highway Department today announced that highway construction projects totaling $4.4 million will be placed under contract in the Upper Peninsula during 1965.

Prospects to be put under contract include construction or modernization of nearly 54 miles of highways in eight of the UP's 15 counties.

Among them is the modernization of 10.2 miles of M 35 in and north of Gladstone. The estimated cost of the project is $1 million and it is to be put under contract in June.

The 1965 construction program for the Upper Peninsula was released jointly by State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and Chairman Ardole W. Ferguson of the new State Highway Commission which will succeed Mackie when he resigns to take his seat in Congress.

Ferguson and other members of the State Highway Commission pledged they would continue the Highway Department's policy of building new highways and modernizing old ones on the basis of traffic needs, safety, and the economic development of Michigan.

Largest project to be placed under contract during 1965 will be the modernization of 16.4 miles of U.S. 41 between Daggett and Powers in Menominee County.

Projects to be placed under contract in the Upper Peninsula during 1965, their estimated cost and the month when bids will be opened include:

U.S. Politics Big Story Of 1964

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Editors of AP member newspapers and radio and TV stations voted the campaign and landslide election of Lyndon B. Johnson as President the top news story of 1964.

For the Republicans, the campaign started with Henry Cabot Lodge, who wasn't even in the country, winning the New Hampshire primary. The polls showed Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York moving ahead after he won the Oregon primary; then Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania announced his candidacy. But it was Barry M. Goldwater, a conservative, who swept to a first-ballot nomination at the convention in San Francisco.

The only suspense for the Democrats before their convention in Atlantic City was the question of whom Johnson would name as his running mate. Not too surprisingly, LBJ chose Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

Johnson, after a particularly rough campaign, won by the greatest plurality and per cent ideological split with Red China, waited to learn whether Mr. K's brand of peaceful co-existence would continue or be replaced by a new, tougher line.

The No. 3 story was the continuing Civil Rights struggle. The story had many highlights.

Early in the year Northern cities organized school boycotts to protest racial imbalances caused by housing patterns.

In April, a 26-year-old Cleveland minister lay down in the path of a bulldozer during an integration demonstration, was crushed to death and rioting spread through the city.

Gov. George Wallace of Alabama entered presidential primaries as a segregationist, did better than even he had expected and Americans learned the phrase "white backlash."

Malcolm X left the Black Muslims and founded his own black nationalist group. The Rev. Martin Luther King received the Nobel Peace Prize for "Consistently asserting the principle of nonviolence."

After an 83-day filibuster, the far-reaching Civil Rights Bill passed Congress. The law banned discrimination in public facilities.

The bodies of three young men, two white, one Negro, volunteers in Mississippi voter registration drives, were found buried near Philadelphia, Miss., on Aug. 4. The FBI investigated and on Dec. 4 arrested 21 men, most of them on federal conspiracy charges.

In St. Augustine, Fla., 283 persons were arrested during Rights demonstrations between March 28 and April 16, in New York's Harlem, an

City on Aug. 27. Barry Goldwater is shown at right, analyzing his defeat as a press conference on the day after the election.

Yester Maddox, patrolling in the Gulf of Tonkin, 30 miles off the North Vietnamese shore. The raid against the Maddox, joined in the bay by the U.S. destroyer Turner Joy, was renewed Aug. 4.

At the order of President Johnson, U.S. carrier planes then bombed the torpedo boats, bases and a petroleum depot.

Red China threatened to retaliate but did not.

In the often-changing government of South Viet Nam, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh came to power in a bloodless coup Jan. 30, was the target of a short-lived coup himself in September and in October a civilian government took over with Tran Van Huong, mayor of Saigon, appointed premier.

6. Red China on Oct. 16 exploded its first atom bomb, and immediately called for a world conference to discuss banning atomic weapons.

American nuclear scientists said the blast was small, about the force of the first U.S. A-bomb. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara said it would be many years before Red China could mount a nuclear attack.

But the achievement could strengthen China's prestige in Asia and Africa and even in Russia.

7. The commission under Chief Justice Warren that investigated the assassination of President John F. Kennedy made public its report in September. It found that Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, killed President Kennedy. It found no evidence that either Oswald or Jack Ruby, who shot him to death, acted as part of any conspiracy.

8. In the Congo, Communist-supported rebels overran the northeast part of the country and placed some 60 Americans and 800 Belgians under house arrest "until U.S. and Belgium halt military aid" to Leopoldville.

Then on Nov. 24, 250 white hostages were lined up in Lumumba Square, Stanleyville, to be shot, just as Belgian paratroopers arrived. Among the several score murdered was Dr. Paul Carlson, a U.S. missionary. By the end of the day, 790 terrified hostages were saved by the paratroopers and flown to Leopoldville. After five days of U.S. and Belgian rescue operations in the area, more than 2,000 white persons had been evacuated. Ninety-seven were known dead and 500 or more were missing.

9. President Johnson promised, less than a week after the assassination of his predecessor, that the tax cut and Civil Rights bills be enacted as memorials to President Kennedy. They were. On Feb. 26 LBJ signed into law the biggest single tax reduction in American history, a $11.5 billion cut in individual and corporate levies. And on July 2 he signed, after a bitter fight in Congress, the country's most sweeping Civil Rights bill.

10. Legislative reapportionment is what they called it when on Feb. 17 the Supreme Court ruled, 6 to 3, that congressional districts within each state should be substantially equal in population, to end voting inequities.

What would it mean? Whole-sale redistricting by the states, giving cities greater representation and shaking up the structure of many state legislatures.

King Alfonso XIII, of Spain, began his reign on the day he was born.

UNEMPLOYMENT, HOW MUCH?—The achievement of full employment may be much nearer than the unemployment figures imply. Grouped in total unemployment figures are teen-agers and part-time female employees as well as men. Broken down into these components, the unemployment rate takes on a new look. The rate for adult men has had a definite downward trend since mid-1961, producing a wider gap between male and female unemployment. On the other hand, the rate for teen-agers has fluctuated between 13 per cent and 18 per cent with no downward trend visible.

On Oct. 15 Tass announced that Khrushchev, 70, had requested his release from his two jobs because of advanced age and bad health. Leonid Brezhnev, 57, was named secretary and Alexei Kosygin, 60, premier.
